Broadcasters Laura Jackson and Alice Levine are the founders of eponymous London-based supperclub Jackson & Levine. The supperclub, voted the 'hottest supperclub of the year' by the Observer Magazine in 2016, started from a shared love of food and has grown into a much talked-about food and lifestyle business. The girls create one-off experiences, host talks and curate major events and now, thanks to the launch of their debut book, are bringing their top tips, tricks and recipes to novice hosts.

I was really looking forward to this book as a fan of Jackson and Levine, and I was not disappointed. Not only does the book include recipes, they are categorized by recommended "menus" for different proposed occasions, which would make it very easy to impress. With additional advice for hosting

(table setting, music, etc), this has quickly become one of my favorite cook books/coffee table books. I probably would have loved it for the aesthetic alone, but everything I have made so far has been delicious, and it reads more as a manual for the perfect dinner party than just a standard recipe book. Is it too soon to start asking for their next edition?

Wow So many beautiful photographs and such an inspiring idea Great recipes

Beautiful book! I like how it's broken down by event and the recipes for that event. It is relatable and feels like you could actually pull off the events off yourself. Well done!
