Wrinkles And The Therapy Puppies: A Story Of Helping Others

Synopsis

Wrinkles is a therapy dog and lonely at the moment because she's not working. She decides to go to the puppy store and 'orders' some puppies to train to also be therapy dogs. Some of the puppy parts get mixed up and one of the pups has green ears! Although different from the rest of the pups, the puppy with the green ears attracts a special friend. This tale of fitting in and helping others will show children that being different is not so bad after all. First-time author, Dona Engh Yates, works with therapy dogs and pens a charming children's tale about helping others. Included are facts about therapy dogs and the wonderful work they do to help Veterans, the elderly, handicapped people and children with special needs. Excellent book to start a discussion and research on these very special canine companions to those in need.

Dona Engh Yates taught art at Saint Mary's Catholic school in Annapolis Maryland for several years. After retiring to Wilmington N.C., she taught an adult calligraphy class at the University of North Carolina's Wilmington Pathway Program. Her love of art and children led her to volunteer to teach art therapy at a juvenile detention center in N.C. for ten years. Dona lives in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and has 3 children and 5 grandchildren.

Wrinkles is a delightful and thought provoking story. Many people, children and adults, will benefit from reading about the special puppy. Many thanks to Dona Engh Yates
